

'31 Basic Activities' handbook: A useful educational tool for refugee reception in classrooms, schools, and communities

Gelly Aroni, Marios Koukounaras-Liagkis, Iro Potamousi, Angelos Vallianatos

Description

The handbook "31 Basic Activities" is a resource for all who work in the field of inclusion. It addresses the challenges of receiving students with refugee background in schools, and is developed for educators and professionals in the field.

The Handbook is intended as a practical tool for educational environments and schools across Europe in their process of creating an inclusive, welcoming learning environment for students with refugee background. The Handbook aims to equip school communities with the necessary tools to ensure a safe, democratic and uninterrupted quality education for all students.
