Timeline

Background

It is important to ease the inclusion of migrants into Slovenian society.

Objectives

The measures aim to ease access to education for migrant students and provide equal access to students under international protection.

Description

The Rules on Slovenian language courses for secondary school students regulate the organisation and implementation of an intensive Slovenian course and additional Slovenian lessons for students whose mother tongue is not Slovenian or who have not completed primary education in the Republic of Slovenia. The rules establish that schools are in charge of organising intensive Slovenian language courses of approximately 160 hours to be held by qualified teachers for teaching Slovenian.

The Rules on the assessment of the knowledge of persons under international protection without proof of educational qualifications set out detailed content, organisation and criteria for the evaluation of the knowledge test performed by persons with international protection who cannot prove their formal qualifications with documents. This enables migrants who lack of proof of former education to enrol in upper secondary education by taking an examination organised by the commission of the National Education Institute of Slovenia.

2018 Approved/Agreed

The rules were adopted in 2018.
