Background

In November 2018, significant changes in Poland's VET system were introduced, including a focus on strengthening the involvement of employers in the VET system and cooperation between VET schools and employers.

All VET schools are included in external and internal quality assurance systems. External quality assurance is provided by pedagogical supervision. External pedagogical supervision is conducted by Regional Education Authorities (kurator oswiaty) overseen by the education ministry. Pedagogical supervision covers four aspects: evaluation, a legal compliance audit, monitoring, and support. The evaluation of schools is conducted in accordance with certain uniform requirements set in the legislation, which indicates the recommended way that schools should function and concerns:

- (a) the organisation of education;
- (b) the skills and knowledge students should acquire as defined in the national core curriculum;
- (c) the active participation of students;
- (d) shaping social attitudes, and respect for social norms;
- (e) supporting students' development taking into account their individual circumstances;
- (f) cooperation with parents and the local community;
- (g) taking into account the findings of analyses of external exam results as well as external and internal evaluations;
- (h) school management.

Objectives

Adjusting the requirements for VET schools (part of the quality assurance system) to developments in the education system; strengthening cooperation between VET schools and employers.

Description

Following the changes to the VET system introduced in November 2018, the Ministry of National Education amended the regulations on the requirements for schools and institutions that are an important element of the pedagogical supervision system. A significant change was introduced in relation to the requirements about cooperation with the local community - the obligation of VET schools to cooperate with employers was added. Additional minor modifications adjusting requirements to the recent changes were introduced.
