Description

The Path for youth project was originally planned for the period 2016-20. It specifically targets last grade students in higher education, tertiary professional schools and secondary schools. Since 2017 the target group has been expanded to students of two last grades. On top of in-company practical training, participants benefit from soft skills courses and guidance interviews with HR specialists. The soft skills courses offer specific training in communication skills, stress management, time management and information processing. The guidance interview helps the students to update their CV and give hints about trends and requirements of recruitment procedures. Young people (students) up to the age of 26 could have taken part in traineeships ranging from 80-240 hours within 1-6 months in companies in the Czech Republic. For university students the traineeship was fully recognisable as a compulsory practical training. In 2018, the ministry of labour decided to end the project because of the current labour market situation of extremely low unemployment. As the graduates can get jobs very easily, there is almost no demand for support tools offered by the project.
