Background

An act introducing numerous changes in the VET system in Poland was signed on 22 November 2018. The changes affected the three most important legal acts for the education system in Poland as well as a number of regulations in other legal documents.

The main aim of the reform, according to the education ministry, is to restore the prestige of vocational education in Poland by improving its quality and effectiveness. Special emphasis is placed on strengthening the mechanisms for involving employers in the development of VET in all its stages, particularly in practical vocational training and on the systematic adaptation of VET to labour-market-needs by forecasting the demand for professions and skills.

Objectives

Improving quality assurance mechanisms relating to continuing education outside of schools.

Description

The Law of 22 November 2018 further developed the accreditation system for institutions providing continuing education outside of schools aimed at greater quality control.

The key changes include the different scope of accreditation (which will be issued for a given educational activity instead of accreditation for all, or a majority of, activities of a given institution) and time-limited accreditation (five years instead of indefinite). Further, new requirements for institutions applying for accreditation were defined.

2018 Approved/Agreed

2019 Approved/Agreed

In August 2019, the education ministry introduced a new regulation including the changes described above and providing more detailed guidelines, such as on the documents required from institutions applying for accreditation, accreditation procedures and other issues.
