Background

A national coordination point (NCP) for the European credit system for vocational education and training (ECVET) was established in 2012, through the National Agency for Qualification and VET (ANQEP). A community of practice is in place. Modularisation and transfer rules have been set up.

Objectives

The implementation of the National credit system for VET has the following main objectives:

- (a) promoting flexibility in the qualification pathways and certification strategies within the scope of the national qualifications system (SNQ);
- (b) capitalising on individual training and lifelong learning paths, with a view to obtaining qualifications;
- (c) promoting the transparency of the learning outcomes achieved or to be achieved through its quantitative expression;
- (d) improving the certified learning in the context of SNQ based on the qualifications of the National catalogue of qualifications (CNQ);
- (e) improving continuing, relevant and quality training not included in the CNQ, for the purposes of certification under the SNQ;
- (f) supporting the mobility of European citizens through an approach based on learning outcomes by comparing learning outcomes and qualifications across countries.

Description

In 2017, Portuguese legislation introduced a National credit system for VET in line with ECVET principles, which was intended to support permeability between VET pathways and higher education, as well as mobility within Europe. A major priority is that the system supports adult qualifications. It applies to level 2, 4 and 5 qualifications of the national qualifications framework, QNQ (Quadro Nacional de Qualificações). It also applies to certified training programmes/courses, which are recorded in the online information system for the management of training provision (SIGO), and complies with the quality assurance criteria in place. An instrument for recording individual learning pathways (Qualifica passport) has also been created.

Currently, all double certifications included in the CNQ have credit points associated.
