Background

The National repertory of education and training qualifications and professional qualifications has been developed since 2013. The Italian context is characterised by the presence of multiple institutional players at national and regional levels. This situation has accentuated problems in national recognition of the regional qualifications, reducing intra-national mobility of workers.

Objectives

The objective of the National framework of regional qualifications (QNQR) is the national recognition of the regional qualifications and their referencing to EQF. The QNQR is the mutual reference for identification, validation and certification of regional qualification and competences in terms of training credits, also in a European respect.

Description

In June 2015, an inter-ministerial Decree (signed by the education and labour ministries) introduced an operational framework for the recognition of regional qualifications and related skills competences at a national level (National framework of regional qualifications, QNQR). The agreement was endorsed by an inter-ministerial decree signed in June by the education and labour ministries. Mutual recognition of regional qualifications and standard procedures (including the issuing of final certificates) are established by the operational framework. The rules are already being applied. The QNQR establishes the mutual recognition of regional qualifications and standard procedures (including the issuing of final certificates); the Decree also contains measures relating to the functions required for providing validation and certification of competences, however acquired.

The QNQR is based on the model of the Atlas of work and qualifications; it provides a reference device for repertories of regional qualifications.

2015 Approved/Agreed

In 2015, the legislative framework for the recognition of regional qualifications and related skills and competences was approved.

2021 Implementation

The Decree of 5 January 2021, that makes operational the guidelines for the interoperability of awarding bodies of the national system of certification of competences, reaffirmed the importance of the Atlas of work and qualifications as a tool for the management of the national repertory, which also includes the QNQR.

2022 Implementation

The Regions continued the implementation of their repertories of qualifications and their uploading in the National repertory of educational and training qualifications and vocational qualifications, in the specific section of the National framework of regional qualifications, QNQR.

2023 Implementation

The Regions have been continuing the implementation of their repertories of qualifications and their upload in the National repertory of educational and training qualifications and vocational qualifications, in the specific section of the National framework of regional qualifications, QNQR.

2024 Implementation

The Regions have been continuing the implementation of their repertories of qualifications and their upload in the National repertory of educational and training qualifications and vocational qualifications, in the specific section of the National framework of regional qualifications, QNQR.

The QNQR was mentioned in the update of the Italian referencing report of the qualifications to the European Qualifications Framework as a key component of Italy's qualifications framework since it plays a crucial role in aligning regional qualifications with the EQF, thereby enhancing the portability and recognition of these qualifications within the European context.
