Background

To promote the cultural heritage and history of Luxembourg among young learners, an offer of multimedia websites, teaching resources, and special events for school classes have been developed.

Objectives

Provide teachers and learners with a set of tools allowing the development of cultural and historical knowledge.

Description

The Ministry of Education, Children and Youth encourages and accompanies many projects and initiatives of educational interest through its Department for Coordination of Educational and Technological Research and Innovation (SCRIPT). Several websites providing digital teaching material for school teachers have been created: the portal Multi-script provides access to online and printed educational material and online applications for both primary and secondary education. It grants access to Educ'Arte, the educational portal of the cultural Arte TV channel, including over 1 000 videos available in French, German and English.

In 2018, the Ministry of Education introduced two platforms. The platform letzebuergeriwwen aggregated cultural projects and provides teaching material related to the Cultural heritage week held in public schools. The platform kulturama, introduced in collaboration with the Ministry of Culture, allows establishing contact between teachers and artists of different domains. 20 cultural projects were set up for the school year 2019/20 due to the platform. The website kulturgeschichte was set up by SCRIPT of the Ministry of Education. The website promotes the culture and history of Luxembourg through different domains (history, theatre, media, languages) for secondary classical and general education, based on a series of lectures organised by University of Luxembourg. It also grants open access for the general public. The website Forumpapers provides a choice of articles of the periodical magazine forum for teaching purposes in secondary education.

2018 Implementation

2019 Implementation

In 2019, the first edition of a Cultural heritage week (semaine du patrimoine culturel) was organised in Luxembourgish public schools. In collaboration with the Ministry of Culture, 15 cultural institutions and sites all over the country were invited by school classes. The website Lëtzebuerg erliewen provided related didactic materials. A large range of projects and material were developed by SCRIPT (Service de coordination de la recherche et de l'innovation pédagogiques et technologiques) to promote education by culture for young learners of all age groups.

2020 Implementation

In 2020, the websites were regularly updated.

2021 Implementation

In 2021, the websites were regularly updated.

2022 Completed

In 2022, a new version of the kulturama.lu platform went online. The site contains more information and presents in a more modern way the pool of artists so that anyone working with children and young people can contact those. For education professionals, the documents needed to apply for project funding are presented in a more prominent way.
