

EURES (European Employment Services) report

Report on labour shortages and surpluses in 2024

Description

---

This is the seventh edition of the European Employment Services (EURES) report on labour market imbalances, exploring the status of labour shortages and surpluses in 2024 and how they developed over time.

According to the report, the EU labour market faces significant challenges, mostly related to labour market tightness and skills mismatches. It identified persistent labour shortages and surpluses in various sectors and occupations, driven by structural factors. The analysis also highlights gender and age disparities among workers in surplus and shortage labour occupations.
