

Team members' and teachers' understanding of their own unpleasant emotions in the process of teamwork or teaching

Description

The Circular Emotional Reaction (CER) model helps teachers and other professionals working in schools understand their own unpleasant emotions they experience during teaching and teamwork.

This article outlines how the CER model can have a positive effect on ESL as it can help improve cooperation between professionals in multi-professional teams, as well teacher-student relationships.

Read the publication in the link below.

Countries

 EU level

Downloads

Team members' and teachers' understanding of their own unpleasant emotions in the process of teamwork or teaching

EN