The January 2021 issue of Skillset and match, Cedefop's magazine promoting learning for work, is now available to read and download.

Last year will be memorable mainly for the wrong reasons, but it also marked a turning point for Europe's vocational education and training (VET). Also, in this issue:

- Exclusive report and interviews with the Cedefop and Eurofound executive directors on the findings of the joint European company survey and workplace practices that unlock employee skills and knowledge;
- Why too many adults see no need for learning and training, as Cedefop's latest opinion survey finds out;
- How the coronavirus crisis has impacted the need for upskilling and reskilling to equip all Europeans with skills required to participate in the labour market;
- Articles on the European vocational skills week and the #CedefopPhotoAward 2020 winners;
- The latest VET developments in Portugal, the current holder of the rotating EU Presidency.
