Introduction

Lifelong learning bibliography: a European VET perspective

A new bibliography on LLL

This semi-annual bibliography is also available online as a profile in our bibliographical database VET-Bib at:

http://www2.trainingvillage.gr/etv/III/III\_prof\_bib.asp <sup>(1)</sup>

By clicking on the profile you can view a list of publications organised in the same way as the printed bibliography, which is updated in 'real time' as soon as a new record is added to the database.

The profile is organised in two main parts: one organised thematically following the main keywords of the European Commission's recent texts, the Memorandum on lifelong learning <sup>(2)</sup> and the communication Making a European area of lifelong learning a reality <sup>(3)</sup>; the other organised geographically.

All the items listed are catalogued in the bibliographical database VET-Bib. Public access to this database is provided through Cedefop's own Internet site (www.cedefop.eu.int/library.asp) and the European training village (www.trainingvillage.gr).

Data are provided: monthly by partner institutions from ReferNet - the European network of reference and expertise <sup>(4)</sup>, in each EU Member State, Norway and Iceland, who supply bibliographical records of the latest documents on vocational education and training; and, by Cedefop's librarians who select and add material from the EU and international organisations.

The VET-Bib database launched by Cedefop in 1985, provides comprehensive coverage of European literature on developing vocational education and training (VET). It mainly includes monographs, journal articles and some grey literature. The most widely covered subjects are: descriptions of national training systems; training policy and reform; training in specific sectors; various types of training (school-based or vocational education, apprenticeship, alternating training); training for specific target groups: youth, women, disabled, unemployed; continuing and further training for those in employment; certification systems and procedures, and recognising diplomas and qualifications; training developments because of structural and occupational changes, including skill development. Related themes cover labour market outlooks, employment policies, forecasting workforce needs, the sectors and types of occupation which are developing and their resulting training needs, lifelong learning policies, e-learning initiatives and tools.

A semi-annual bibliography

This thematic bibliography will be published semi-annually to inform VET specialists of new publications and documents on lifelong learning. Each issue of this new series will list the latest publications catalogued and indexed in the VET-Bib database during the previous six months. The Lifelong learning bibliography includes monographs, chapters, journal articles, legal texts, Internet sites and CD-ROMs dealing with lifelong learning.

The bibliography is structured:

- (a) under headings currently of particular interest, e.g. lifelong learning as seen by international organisations, EU policy, employability, partnerships, and themes in line with key messages of the EC memorandum: basic skills, financing, innovation, accrediting and valuing learning, guidance, and access close to the learner;
- (b) by the situation in Member States and candidate countries, at international level, etc.

Within each category, literature is presented in alphabetical order by title, showing all important fields to enable identification of suitable documents. For titles which are not in English or French a rough translation has been provided to give users an idea of an item. In addition, documents have been indexed using the European training thesaurus. Descriptors are listed under each publication.

The easiest way to obtain the full record of a document mentioned in the bibliography is to open the VET-Bib database, click on the 'get' function, choose the index 'system number' and type in the VET-Bib system number. This is the number in square brackets above each reference in the bibliography.

The full record of each document will provide additional information, such as an abstract, written in English or French and details of availability, etc.

Cedefop hopes the Lifelong learning bibliography, issued periodically, will be a useful tool for all who have an interest in lifelong learning, both for practical and research purposes.

Reactions and comments are welcome. If you have a document you would like added to any of our bibliographies, please send the library a copy for cataloguing and abstracting, and we would be glad to include it.
