

PERSONAL INFORMATION

Nicolas Faintrenie

Doctor in law, I served for six years in a trade union confederation in the department "employment and vocational training policies". Here, I contributed to the construction of the French vocational training system.

During a stint as a senior consultant in the private sector on employment and training policies, I advised different actors of employment and vocational training on strategic, legal and business issues.

Now I am a professional sector policies Officer in an organization that represents more than 30 sectors. I lead the teams to reach agreements on all types of agreements, from wages to social protection and vocational training.

Current position

Professional sector policies Officer

Fédération des employés et cadres Force Ouvrière (FEC FO)

Paris, France