

Bringing it all back home: An innovative approach to the provision of tailored education and training for young people

Description

The Irish ABLE programme offered a flexible curriculum. Students' interests were taken into account both for content and delivery, in order to develop a tailored, relevant course for each individual.

Read more about on the programme in the link below.

Countries

Ireland

Downloads

Bringing it all back home: An innovative approach to the provision of tailored education and training for young people

EN

Related intervention approaches

Tailored learning pathways

